"The contributors, affected by incarceration, detention, and deportation . . . courageously share their struggles, victories, and sorrows, sometimes in code, sometimes in technicolor—raw and loud. Their art and writing will surely inspire others to show up and tell their own truths."

ELEVEN YEARS OF ANTHOLOGIES

The PATHfinder Club (formerly known as POPS the Club) has published a collection of poetry, stories, artwork, and photography by club members each year since 2013. These anthologies are healing for families, relished by students from elementary school through college, used in prisons and detention centers as inspiration, and praised by librarians, educators, and literary journals.

Our anthologies are published by Out of the Woods Press, established to dismantle barriers and to challenge the notion that some lives matter more than others. Out of the Woods Press publishes stories, poetry, and artwork created by people whose lives have been altered by incarceration. These books are designed to educate, enlighten, and open readers' hearts and minds.

In 2023, The Pathfinder Network assumed operation of POPS the Club, carrying on their publishing legacy through the expansion of The PATHfinder Club.
